BAD STOMACH MAKES BAD BLOOD.

You can't make sweet butter in a foul churn. Every farmer's wife knows this. Your stomach churns and digests the food you eat, and if foul, torpid or out of order, your whole system suffers from blood poisoning. You will have foul breath, coated tongue, bad taste, poor appetite and a whole train of disagreeable symptoms. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, which is not a secret, is composed of whisky or alcohol, being entirely free from intoxicants, is a great regulator and invigorator of the stomach, liver and bowels.

"About a year ago I was ill with blood poisoning," writes Miss E. L. Lewis, of 20 Water Street, Buffalo, N. Y. "I had what seemed to be a small cold sore on my lip. It became very angry in appearance and began to spread until it nearly covered my face. I was a faithful church member and could not go out of the house because of my appearance. I used a blood medicine which did not give me any relief. Then I began to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I was greatly benefited with the first bottle and after taking the second bottle was completely cured. The eruptions on my face disappeared and my blood was cleansed. My complexion is clear and fresh and I have felt better this year than I did for some time before. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is certainly a most remarkable medicine."

Don't accept a substitute for a medicine which performs such cures and which has a uniformly successful record of nearly forty years to its credit. It is an insult to your intelligence for a dealer to try to over-persuade you to palm off upon you in its stead some inferior article with no record to back it up. You know what you want; it is his business to meet that want.

$50,000 GIVEN AWAY. In copies of "The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser," a book that will save you money and give you health. This year we shall give away $50,000 worth of these valuable books. If you send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only for book in this benefit. If you send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only for book in this benefit. If you send only 21 one-cent stamps to cover cost of mailing only for book in this benefit. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Constitution although a little ill, he gets big ones if neglected. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a most remarkable medicine.

MOBBED BY OYSTERMEN.

A mob of several hundred oystermen and their sympathizers took possession of Crisfield, Md., yesterday in behalf of Ralph Nelson, charged with pirating, or raiding, the oyster plantation of the Tangier Company, in Tangier sound, Somerset county.

Nelson, it is charged, has been defying the law for some time, aided by his friends in great numbers. Finally he was arrested at the theatre in Crisfield and held for a hearing, which began yesterday morning at 10 o'clock in an opera house, secured to hold the crowd, and continued until 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when the prisoner was pronounced guilty after a trial before Justice G. W. Kennerly.

Then the most dramatic and exciting performance ever witnessed in any Maryland theatre occurred and justice was thrown to the winds. The mob howled for the lynching of the justice, and he, feeling that his life was in danger, drew his pistol and backed into a corner of the stage. The sheriff and his deputies drew their guns and rallied to his support. The mob rescued the prisoner and carried him off in triumph. But they were not yet done with the justice. They turned the tables on him, and instead of his sending Nelson to jail so guarded the opera house courtroom that he could not get out, though he tried a back window.

On the part of the mob their demonstrations were very violent. As soon as the justice announced his verdict there was a rush for him, in which the prisoner was taken away from the law officers and several persons were injured. The sheriff did not dare to attempt a recapture. The friends of the justice persuaded him to revoke his just verdict, founded on direct testimony, to the effect that Nelson had raided the private planting grounds of the Tangier Company, the agents of which had warned him of the plantation.

Justice Kennedy was held a prisoner by the mob for the good part of an hour before he weakened. Then the mob would not at first believe the truth, but the justice emphasized the revocation of sentence by declaring he would never try another oyster case, so it is supposed he will go out of commission as a necessary consequence.

Nelson, the accused, and his friends paraded the streets triumphantly. The mob held the town, declaring that there shall be no planting of oysters and threatening to raid and tear up those that already exist in these waters.

Hon. James E. Ellegood was retained as counsel for Nelson, and when the mob made the rush for the justice the former did all in his power to calm the excitement and prevent violence. In this he succeeded to the extent that no violence was done, but the mob could not be deterred from their purpose of downing law.

Waning Powers of the Pulpit.

Dr. Isaac Franklin Russell, professor of law in New York University, delivered an address before the Presbyterian Ministers' Association, at the Mission Rooms, in New York last Monday morning. Dr. Russell's theme was "The Preacher as a Pleader." He said in part:

The waning power of the pulpit is one of the most lamentable signs of the times. The intellectual pre-eminence of the preacher has passed and gone. Harvard and Yale were once training schools for missionaries and divines. The vast majority of their graduates once took holy orders. But the pulpit no longer attracts the brightest minds, and theological seminaries swarm with intellectual and moral weaklings. Pan-perized by charity, beneficiaries of the bounty of the pious of past ages, divinity students are taught from the start to live, not on the principle that the laborer is worthy of his hire, but by making friends of the mammon of unrighteousness. Pulpit deliverances of our day often lack every element of real oratory; they are largely dreary monologues and commonplace so iquies. The speaker's wits, instead of being sharpened by adversity and defeat, are blunted by the adulation of women and his unvaried triumphs in his weekly duel with an imaginary foe. Preaching has become spectacular, as well as a spiritual ministrations. Subserviency of the clergy to the money power will not fully account for the hush in pulpit oratory. Our present-day divines are not deficient in the art of finished elocution, but they have dropped the old theme of salvation from an inherited curse of sin and escape from the endless tortures of a literal hell. It rises to the loftiest elevation of eloquent expression. The enthusiasts who really believed that the heathen are damned, that the millennium will dawn in two or three years if the Gospel can only be preached in all lands, that the man Jesus will certainly come in our day to reign in worldly dominion at Jerusalem—these add works to their faith and are persuaded by the preacher to sell all and lay it on the altar. It was homely language of a country deacon, speaking to a pauper who had prayed long and loudly for power: "What you want, doctor, isn't power; it's idea." And when the clergy have ideas and grand ideas, they deliver noble orations, ranking with the finished work of the greatest masters of expression.

Terrific Race With Death. "Death was fast approaching," writes Ralph F. Fernandez, of Tampa, Fla., describing his fearful race with death, "as a result of liver trouble and heart disease, which had robbed me of sleep and of all interest in life. I had tried many different doctors and several medicines, but got no benefit, until I began to use Electric Bitters. So wonderful was their effect, that in three days I felt like a new man, and today I am cured of all my troubles." Guaranteed at E. S. Leadbeater & Sons' drug store, price 50c.

But Few Are Free. But few people are entirely free from indigestion at this season of the year.
